Accident Occurs In Borough

A 45-YEAR-OLD East Stroudsburg man died at 6:45 last night at the wheel of his late model car which crashed into a utility pole near the intersection of Smith and Analomink Sts. in East Stroudsburg.

Borough Police identified the victim as Walter Vincent Arnold of 201 Analomink St., but were unable to say if he died of injuries suffered in the crash, or of a heart seizure. Dr. Charles R. Rushmore, Monroe County coroner, is expected to conduct an examination today to determine the cause of death.

Arnold, a veteran employe of the Hughes Printing Co., apparently was in the process of turning his car around to come back down Analomink St., police said. He baked out onto Smith St. and was headed down the hill again, when the car crashed into a Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. pole on Smith St.

Police said a neighbor, Mrs. Louis G. Caramella of 215 Analomink St., heard the crash and went outside to find Arnold slumped over the wheel, and the motor of his car still running. The wheels of the car were spinning in the ground near the pole.

Calls Police

Mrs. Caramella, wife of an East Stroudsburg patrolman, notified police. Her husband and Patrolman Donald Quick immediately investigated the mishap, and called for Dr. Rushmore and an ambulance from General Hospital.

Efforts to revive Arnold proved futile, police said.

A PP&L crew replaced the splintered pole a short time later. A wrecker from the B. E. Weber Garage towed away Arnold's car, the front end of which was extensively damaged.

A life-long resident of the Stroudsburgs, he was the son of Cora Butts Arnold and the late Walter Arnold of East Stroudsburg. He was graduated by East Stroudsburg High School in 1928 and had been employed by Hughes for 27 years. He was a member of the Acme Hose Co., the Printers and Pressman's Union, the CLU Club and the Italian Club.

Wife

Besides his mother, other survivors are his wife, Frances Padagomas Arnold; a son, Leon, York; two sisters, Mrs. George Bauman, Harrisburg; Mrs. Charles Lanterman, East Stroudsburg; two brothers, Ralph, Stroudsburg; and Jay L., East Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m., Friday at the Lanterman Funeral Home with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating. Burial will be in the Prospect Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m., Thursday.

Senate Votes $16½ Billion For Air Force

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate rejected President Eisenhower's assessment of the nation's air power needs today and voted nearly a billion dollars more than he wanted for the Air Force in fiscal 1957.

The 48-40 roll-call vote was a smashing victory for Senate Democrats, who refused to accept assurances of administration leaders that the Air Force would have enough money to keep ahead of Russia in the struggle for world air supremacy.

Voting was preceded by a bitter attack on Secretary of Defense Wilson, who was called inept, vain, arrogant and contemptuous of Congress.

Budget

The extra Air Force money, most of it earmarked for improved aircraft, was added to the Defense Department's budget for the 12 months beginning next Sunday.

Then the Senate passed the 35-billion-dollar defense measure on a routine roll-call vote of 88-0. The big bill provides about 16½ billion for the Air Force, 10 billion for the Navy and Marine Corps and 7½ billion for the Army. The balance would go for miscellaneous Defense Department needs.

The House has yet to act on the controversial air power issue, which is sure to reverberate in the election campaign this fall. If the House approves the extra money, it remains to be seen whether Eisenhower will spend it or impound it, as former President Truman once did with additional Air Force funds voted by Congress.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo), one of the leading advocates of more air power, conceded in advance of the voting that a Democratic victory might be only "theoretical," since the administration did not have to spend the extra money.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said the United States must have "the greatest strategic air force in the world" to make sure of "its protection and the maintenance of peace."

"Every free nation in the world" depends on the American air arm, Russell said.

Russell led the attack on Wilson, whom he described as "inept and unequipped for this responsible position."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Wilson had treated Congress with an attitude "of disdain, yea, almost of contempt."

Heavy Attack

Speaking of a Cabinet member in terms seldom heard in the Senate, Russell said Wilson's "vanity and arrogance in congressional appearances has been exceeded only by his lack of understanding."

He accused Wilson of attempting to intimidate and gag career officers so they could not give the facts to Congress. There was no immediate defense of Wilson from the Republican side of the chamber.

The House has approved a defense outlay of about 33½ billion for the next 12 months, including a little less than 15½ billion for the Air Force. If the House doesn't go along with the Senate on today's increases, the question will have to be threshed out in a Senate-House conference.

$33 Billion Legislation Makes History

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — The 33-billion-dollar highway bill, biggest nondefense spending program in history, was passed by Congress today and sent to President Eisenhower.

Congressional action was completed by an 89-1 roll-call vote in the Senate. The lone dissenter was Sen. Long (D-La.). Earlier in the day, the House passed the bill by voice vote and without debate.

The roadbuilding program includes just about everything Eisenhower requested, except for bond financing of the federal outlays. Congressional Democrats succeeded in substituting tax boosts to help pay for the 13-year program.

Eisenhower has listed the highway bill as an "urgent" item on his program for Congress. Supporters of the legislation expect him to sign it promptly, perhaps this week.

Provision

The bill provides for a $14,800,000,000 hike in taxes to be levied on highway users in the next 16 years. These will go into effect July 1 if Eisenhower signs it by that time.

One of the tax boosts would add 1 cent to the present 2-cents-a-gallon federal tax on gasoline and motor fuels.

The measure represents a compromise, worked out last week, of differing bills voted earlier by the two branches. Some Congress members have termed it "the greatest governmental construction program in the history of the world."

Its major feature calls for a 14,000 mile network of interstate superhighways to cost some 27½ billion dollars. The federal government would pay 90 per cent of the bill; the states the rest.

Rep. Fallon (D-Md), coauthor of the measure with Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), describes the interstate system as "broad, straight, trouble-free roads, four to eight lanes wide, criss-crossing America from coast to coast and border to border."

The system would connect 42 state capitals and 90 per cent of all cities of over 50,000 population.

Federal spending on existing road programs also would be greatly increased under the bill's provisions. These outlays would total $2,550,000,000 in the next three years and would be matched 50-50 by state contributions.

Additional sums would be spent on roads in national parks and forests and on Indian reservations, bringing total spending to $32,900,000,000.

New and increased taxes, apart from that on gasoline, are:

1. A new tax of 3-cents-a pound on retread rubber and a 3-cents-a pound hike in the 5-cent levy on tires.

2. A 2 per cent increase in the 8 per cent excise tax on trucks, buses and truck trailers.

3. A new annual tax of $1.59 per 1,000 pounds on trucks and buses weighing more than 26,000 pounds and registered for use on highways.

Eisenhower Warns House To Go-Slow On Veterans Pension

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The House, squaring off for an election year battle over veterans pensions, heard a go-slow plea from President Eisenhower today.

An Eihenhower letter, dated May 30 before the President was hospitalized for abdominal surgery, was read to the House by Rep Ayres (R-Ohio). The President had written the letter to Chairman Teague (D-Tex) of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

In it, Eisenhower said he was convinced that findings of his Commission on Veterans Benefits, which reported recently, should be carefully evaluated "before such basic and far - reaching pension legislation as you mention is acted upon."

Belief

At the same time, Eisenhower expressed belief in recognizing the special sacrifices made by veterans and asserted:

"I further believe that our first obligation is to our war-disabled veterans, their widows and orphans. . ."

He added that he would want Congress, the public and the administration to study the pension program, "especially the basic principles and priorities involved," before taking any major action to change it.

Ayres supports the least-costly of three pension bills being debated by the House.

After reading Eisenhower's letter, he said "we all know that the President of the United States is not going to sign" a more costly measure.

McClellan Angered Over 'Secret' Files

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) today called upon the White House today to explain now an author got copies of documents "more secret" than some the administration has withheld from Congress.

The demand from the chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee came after White House aide Maxwell Rabb turned down an invitation to testify before the subcommittee.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called Rabb's refusal to testify "inexcusably arrogant." He said Rabb should be punished for contempt.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a subcommittee member who missed today's session, told a reporter it looked to him like "a general political salvo in the general direction of the White House."

Reply

Had he been consulted about the move to question Rabb, Mundt said, he would have suggested that "they first decide what they want, to find out, and secondly who has the information, instead of firing a general political salvo in the direction of the White House."

Instead of showing up to testify as McClellan had asked in a telegram, Rabb sent the chairman a letter saying "there is nothing I can add" to his denial yesterday that he or any of his staff "leaked" official documents to author Robert J. Donovan. Accordingly, Rabb added, he must "respectfully decline" to appear.

Eisenhower, Stevenson Gain Support

ALTANTIC CITY, June 26 (AP)—Republican governors put their second term support for President Eisenhower in writing today while a survey turned up strong backing in states with Democratic governors for Adlai E. Stevenson to oppose him.

Gov. Averell Harriman still was in their pitching for the Democratic nomination, though.

The New Yorker invited all the Democrats attending the 58th annual governors' conference to a cocktail party in his hotel suite—including those who like Stevenson.

Petition

A formal petition, declaring the Republican governors' "wholehearted approval" of the administration and urging and pledging "our full support" to Eisenhower's nomination and re-election, was signed quickly by 20 of the 21 Republican governors.

Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana, an ardent Eisenhower backer, had left the conference and didn't sign. Third on the list of those who did was J. Bracken Lee of Utah, who frequently has criticized fiscal and foreign policies of the administration.

The manifesto was circulated by Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, with the advance knowledge and approval of the White House representative at the conference—former Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona, who now is an aide to Eisenhower. And it was known Pyle got an OK from the White House itself.

Democrats were showing no signs of circulating any petition either for Stevenson or Harriman. If they did, it wouldn't produce anything like unanimity.

A half dozen or more governors are openly committed to Stevenson, one to Harriman, and the rest still are officially unfettered.

Survey

But an Associated Press survey of Democratic opinion represented at the conference indicated Stevenson has a good claim to around 400 votes at the Democratic National Convention in August from the 27 states with Democratic governors.

That's a big start on the 686½ votes needed to clinch the nomination. And, on the basis of the survey, Stevenson could do that by breaking even on Democratic delegates from Republican-controlled states.

Admiral King's Body Arrives In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The body of Adm. Ernest J. King, World War II chief of naval operations, arrived here by plane today.

The five-star admiral, who was 77, died at Portsmouth, N. H., yesterday. His body was brought here for full military honors and funeral services.

Rest

Tomorrow the body will be taken to Washington National Cathedral to rest in the main sanctuary until the funeral on Friday. A 24-hour honor guard will stand watch.

King will be buried in the Naval Academy cemetery at Annapolis.

New Feeling In Steel Talks

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—An aura of "something brewing" developed today in the long-stalemated steel wage negotiations.

With a strike in the 650,000-man industry scheduled to start Saturday at midnight, efforts to find a solution reached a new pitch.

The United Steel workers called their 170-member Wage Policy Committee back for a meeting here Friday.

This sometimes means an agreement is in sight, but it also could mean simply that the union wants the committee here on a standby basis. The committee traditionally approves or rejects any negotiated agreement.

The union's 32-member international executive board also will meet here Friday. The union said both meetings "will be held for the purpose of reporting on the status of steel negotiations at that time."

Executives

Executives of various steel firms meanwhile were arriving in the city for consultation on any new twist the negotiations might take.

A mysteriously brief meeting between negotiators for the union and the Big Three steel firms—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic—ended with word that both sides had "homework" to do.

Spokesmen were mum as to whether this meant that either side, or both, had submitted new proposals that would require study and consultation by the other.

The negotiators will reconvene jointly tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Both management and union sources—other than the negotiators—speculated that a new approach might center around the possibility of a three-year contract.

Management has been insisting on a five-year contract. The steelworkers customarily work under a wage reopenings.

The union has asked a "substantial" increase over the present average wage of $2.46 an hour. It also asked for double pay on Sundays, time-and-a-half for Saturday, a 52-week layoff pay program and other benefits.

The steel companies offered a wage increase they estimated at 7.3 cents an hour each year for five years. McDonald, rejecting the whole proposed wage package was "entirely inadequate," said would amount to "only a nickel."

The companies offered 4 per cent premium pay for Sundays, none for Saturdays, and also proposed various holiday, vacation and other benefits.

Judge Invokes Long Sentence On Daniel

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Thomas G. Daniel, 25, today was sentenced to 8½ to 20 years in prison for the abortion death of his sweetheart. He will be eligible for parole in a little over five years.

"You lie, you lie," Daniel muttered at the judge who denounced him in scathing terms for the manslaughter death of pretty, blonde Jacqueline Smith, 20. The youth wept as he was led away.

"I am convinced, as the jury was, that you were not only the lover of Jackie Smith but that you unquestionablely were responsible for her pregnancy," General Sessions Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer told the darkly urbane Daniel, formerly of Warren, Ohio.

Defense

During a three-week trial that ended May 29, Daniel claimed Miss Smith became pregnant by another man whom he never identified and that she arranged for her own abortion.

The abortion was performed in Daniel's apartment last Christmas Eve. During it, the brown-eyed blonde girl from Lebanon, Pa., died of hemorrhage or from an overdose of anesthetic.

The actual abortion was performed by a male nurse, Leo Pijuan, 46, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter and testified for the state against Daniel. Pijuan comes up for sentencing tomorrow.

Pijuan said the two men cut Jacqueline's body into 35 pieces after her death. These were wrapped in gay Christmas paper and strewn in trash baskets in upper Manhattan. No trace of the body ever was found.

Daniel was an arrogant, semi-coherent witness at times during his trial. The same characteristics marked a 17-minute harangue he delivered to Judge Schweitzer before sentencing.

"I'm shocked that I'm here before the court today," Daniel declared. "The public conscience is a big thing and you, judge, as keeper of the public conscience have to be a giant and reach out with two powerful hands and be strong. This public conscience is here today although it utters not a word . . . .

"No one has more right than I to light a candle for this girl, to feel sorrow and remorseful. When she came to me with no religious principles, no way of life, I failed her."

Asked today about reports to this effect, Hagerty said one isn't necessary since "whirlybirds" can readily land on the farm without any special strip.

One Killed, Seven Hurt As Blast Shatters Morrisville Tavern

MORRISVILLE, Pa., June 26 (AP)—An explosion blew a cinder-block cafe to smithereens today, killing a 68-year-old man and injuring seven others.

Police attributed the blast to gas in the basement of the cafe, set free apparently when an unidentified workman struck a gas line while digging a sewer trench.

The explosion turned Monti's Cafe at 215 W. Philadelphia Ave. into a pile of rubble. It killed Joseph Monti, 68, of Main St., Tullytown, father of the cafe's owner.

Injured

The owner, Ferdinand Monti, 40, and his wife, Phyllis, were injured. A patron of the cafe, Joseph M. Hall, 61, of Morrisville, was critically injured.

A woman riding in a car along Philadelphia Ave., the street next to the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line tracks, suffered a possible skull fracture when a two-foot section of cinder block was hurled through the air and crushed the roof of the car. She was identified as Mrs. Josephine Martin, 49, of Munhall. Her husband, John, and two children, also in the car, were reported uninjured.

Three other persons were treated at the scene for shock, but were not hospitalized.

The blast occurred shortly before 11 a.m. Mrs. Helen Borsos told a reporter she heard a hissing sound just before the explosion.

"I was in the kitchen . . . when all of a sudden I heard something go sssssssss and then boom," she said.

The cinder block cafe blew up with a detonation that knocked a man down four blocks away. Debris was blown hundreds of feet, with some 12-foot planks winding up in the limbs of a nearby oak tree, 30 feet off the ground.

Mrs. Monti, who was treated for arm and back abrasions at Mercer Hospital, in Trenton, N.J., and released, said she had just left the cafe when the blast occurred.

She said "the whole building seemed to collapse at once."

"It just fell apart," she told a newsman.

She said she smelled gas just before the explosion and left because of it. Her husband was at Mercer Hospital with a broken leg.

The Montis' son, Bruce, was playing in the yard behind the cafe and was not injured.

Recurrent rumors that some children in the neighborhood were missing spurred firemen in their search through the rubble-filled foundation. But all they found, they said, were beer-soaked ruins.

Fire companies and police from neighboring communities joined the entire Morrisville force in rushing to the scene after the explosion.

Cement, Steel, Aluminum, Airline Issues Lead Stock Market Through Decisive Advance

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Cement, steel, aluminum and airline issues led the stock market to a decisive advance in a late splurge of activity today.

Prices of leading issues made gains ranging to around 3 points. A few exceeded that limit.

Despite the belated rise in trading interest, volume reached only 1,730,000 shares compared with 1,500,000 yesterday.

Although the market was higher from the start on average there were many losers until mid-afternoon. Passage of the 33-billion-dollar highway program then touched-off cement stocks and steels to sizable gains.

Earlier, steels had been spotty. Portents of a possible compromise in steel labor negotiations before the Saturday strike deadline tended to bolster confidence.

Rise

The rise in the cost-of-living index to equal the 1953 all-time record, meaning a pay raise for more than 100,000 workers was another bullish factor.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 80 cents to $182.00, wiping out yesterday's loss. The industrials rose $1.40, the rails 40 cents and the utilities 30 cents.

Of 1,123 issues traded there were 538 advances and 340 declines. There were 20 new highs for the year and 32 new lows.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were higher. Volume totaled 640,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

Corporate bonds were firm. U.S. Treasury obligations declined in the over-the-counter market.

3,971 Hospital cases prove . . . leading doctors agree

From a World Famous Hospital Comes Startling Medical News! A new, gentle—Far More Effective Form of Iodine! Proved by hospital clinical work on over 3,971 patients, Proved safe Even in Babies' Throats! Yet so effective it has cured cases that even defied antibiotics!

NEW PAINLESS IODINE STOPS INFECTION FAST!

Won't burn or sting the wound! No poison label!
Safe...even if swalloned accidentally!

SO GENTLE THAT BANDAGING IS RECOMMENDED

Revolutionary ISODINE the full-potency antiseptic . . . containing the new "complexed" iodine . . . soothes wounds, promotes healing like no other antiseptic does!

LABORATORY-TESTED AND PROVED UP TO 40 TIMES FASTER THAN TWO LEADING ANTISEPTICS IN KILLING GERMS

ISODINE Antiseptic, the painless, high-potency iodine, is now available to your family! This safe, new "complexed" iodine gives the full antiseptic power of iodine — for the first time in a gentle form. Gone is the burn of iodine — with ISODINE.

Doctors hail ISODINE Antiseptic because:

1. ISODINE does not irritate or blister skin.
2. You can safely bandage over ISODINE.
3. ISODINE retains full potency

The secret of Isodine is the remarkable achievement of "complexing" elemental iodine with a great discovery, polyvinylpyrrolidone.

WORKS CONTINUOUSLY AGAINST INFECTION!

ISODINE forms a brown film over the injury that protects continuously as long as the color remains. When the color fades, that is ISODINE'S built-in signal to apply it again.

WHY YOU SHOULD GET ISODINE TODAY!

Scientific fact! Ordinary iodine loses germ-killing potency — deteriorates on the shelf. Other antiseptics may fail to protect, so infection develops. ISODINE is full-potency when you buy it — gives full protection every time! Throw out old-style antiseptics that fail to stop infection! Get ISODINE® Antiseptic.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PHYSICIANS

Since Davies' first reports on Iodine in 1839, it has proved a useful antiseptic against bacteria, viruses, fungi, protozoa, yeasts and spores.[1] Detoxified and non-irritating[2-4], Isodine Antiseptic is an aqueous solution containing polyvinylpyrrolidone iodine-complex[2] (PVPI) as the active ingredient.

As a topical antiseptic, it has been under clinical observation for over three years and used on more than 3,971 patients in the Outpatient Department and Inpatient Services of a leading New York hospital, as well as in Private Practice. No clinical signs of retardation of healing or Iodine burn have been reported — even when bandaged.

It is felt that the non-selective, broad spectrum activity of Isodine makes it a valuable adjunct in both hospital and private practice.*

Middle-Road Solution Seen Best On Federal Aid To Schools Issue

As might be expected in this presidential election year, politics dominated Monday's opening sessions of the 48th annual conference of governors in Atlantic City, N. J., even though it wasn't even on the published agenda.

Nevertheless, other important matters made interesting conversation. There was, for example, the symposium on federal aid to education.

Seven governors—four Democrats and three Republicans—voiced opposition to federal encroachment in the solution of state education problems. Two other governors, both Democrats, said federal aid was necessary to meet peculiar state problems.

Chief points raised by the opposition were that federal aid would be deceptively expensive and that it could lead to centralized control of school curricula and other local responsibilities.

Granted that certain states are not as prosperous as others and therefore are not in position to finance school programs to meet growing needs, it seems logical the ideal solution would entail the least amount of federal aid that is essential to raising the educational standards of all the 48 states.

Gov. Langlie (R-Washington) maintained that setting up a school aid program at three different levels—national, state and regional—is the most complicated and expensive way to try to solve such school problems as the need for more classrooms, the high cost of construction and the shortage of teachers.

He said resorting to federal aid was to evade state and local responsibilities. Langlie added that it was up to the governors to tackle the difficult job of convincing their constituent taxpayers they will have increasingly higher taxes to finance school problem solutions.

Gov. Lausche (D-Ohio) warned against acceptance of the theory that federal aid means getting something for nothing and opined that "for every dollar we get we probably will have to pay back two dollars."

Monroe County has a great interest in the future of education, partly because of the prospects it holds for coming generations and also by reason of the fact it is the home of a State Teachers College with an annual enrollment of approximately 1,000 students.

So whatever steps Congress takes in disposing of federal school aid proposals will be watched closely here. A middle-road solution, giving aid to states where absolutely necessary but putting the major responsibility on the local level, seems to us to be the most economical and feasible answer.

India Neutral When It's Convenient To Avoid Embarrassing Soviet Union

"Neutral" India's censors have decided that a film depicting the history of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union cannot be shown in their country unless scenes dealing with Communist efforts to gain control of that union are deleted. Our Government rightfully has refused to do this.

The picture, "With These Hands," has been shown to millions of people throughout the Free World. Only Iron Curtain countries have banned it. It has been shown in India for the past five years. It was in reviewing the film's license that India's censors reversed themselves.

Their reason for doing so is that the disputed scenes might embarass the Soviet Union. It is against Indian policy, they say to pass anything that might embarrass its relations with any foreign government.

As India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru prepares to visit America, perhaps he might contemplate this situation.

There were scenes in the film that did not meet with full approval in this country, yet our Government refused to censor it. India might debate the axiom that truth only embarrasses those who have something to fear.

If India suddenly is afraid of embarrassing Russia, it also should be afraid of doing the same thing to us. Our officials well might say, "May we remind you, Mr. Nehru, of the many anti-American statements made by Khrushchev and Bulganin when they toured India not many months ago. Why was there no official protest by India, then, on the grounds that these statements might 'embarrass' the United States"?

George Sokolsky Says...

Domestic Issues, Foreign Policy Cry Out For Debate During Presidential Election

As we approach the election of a President, how much do we really know about the business of our government? This question is not asked facetiously; it is a realistic response to the difficult problem of getting at the facts. For instance, at this moment of writing, I hear over the radio that Nasser of Egypt is considering a billion dollar loan from Soviet Russia. What are all the factors which brought about the complete failure of American policy in the Middle East?

It is possible to get at some data, particularly by reading British newspapers and noting the debate in Parliament, but the data is inadequate. Too much is hidden.

James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, made this point:

"To me the most insidious and dangerous thing about this fight for freedom of information is that it goes on day after day. It accumulated to such an extent we could hardly grapple with it. I think one of the most valuable things the newspapermen of this country could do, or the committee of Congress could do, would be to try to understand why this basic right, of all basic rights, is so disregarded and permitted to slip away from us. I am inclined to think it actually might be more dangerous to vote out of ignorance than not to have the right to vote at all."

Unfortunately our people have become accustomed to voting for a glamorous personality rather than over issues. There has been no realistic debate over domestic issues or the foreign policy since the 1932 campaign, which is very far off, and if my memory serves me, the issues then was beer. The height, weight, radio voice, television appearance of candidates, and now their health, seem to be more important than their intelligence of integrity.

The fact of the matter is that the American people are not being adequately informed by their government. Things leak out and the reporters and columnists dig out items, but officially there is too much secrecy for our good, and were it not for a few Congressional Committees and the occasional off-the-cuff remarks at the press conferences of the President and the Secretary of State which give leads to what has been suppressed, we should indeed be in an informational blackout.

One of the major difficulties is that we are in the shadow of war and officials tend to make use of that to label items as secret which cannot reasonably be ragarded as secret. J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, testifying before a Congressional Committee, gives this example:

"An example of classification of material not really classified, under Executive Order 10501, in our opinion, was the Gen. Matthew Ridgeway letter of June 27 (1955). This was classified as 'confidential,' but in explaining the classification at his press conference, the Secretary of Defense said it was withheld because it might be misunderstood if published at the time of the Geneva Conference. We have not found in the definition of the 'confidential' category any mention of matter that might be 'misunderstood.' That the Secretary has thought this an appropriate classification gives us some unease about the standards that the Defense Establishment may be applying generally."

Here was an item suppressed for obviously political reasons. But what of the American people? Are they not entitled to know what is going on, why our taxes are so high and why the expenditures fo not achieve the desired results?

We have recently witnessed the spectacle of generals and admirals and members of the Cabinet appearing before a Senate Committee and announcing to all the world with some detail that the Russians are beating us in the armament rave. The country was as much taken by surprise as when it was discovered that the Russians had the atom bomb. What is the real explanation for our backwardness? There is no use telling our people that we have taken second place in a field in which the American genius has been foremost, the field of inventiveness and manufacture. What has gone wrong?

On this subject there should be a free debate during the forthcoming election and the facts should come out. Undoubtedly the Russians know what the facts are and perhaps will publish them in "Pravda."

Anglo-U. S. Differences Show In Vacation Reading

Traveling? I don't care about your clothes and fishing gear. What books you taking along to read?

Alec Waugh ("Island in the Sun") and Somerset Maugham (short story dean) are writers who travel, or travelers who write. And a better head than mine must decide which. They do both superbly. Both are hard work, even though Waugh refers to travel as a "holiday."

Each of these gentlemen travels with the customary dinner jacket, plus odds and ends of less noteworthy haberdashery. But the most important luggage item is—books. Maugham has said he stows a ton of books in a big canvas bag which is hoisted aboard ship under his anxious eye. Without his books the trip would collapse. Mr. Waugh, citing his idol Maugham, recently deplored the fact that modern air travel precludes such sizeable hard-cover supplies accompanying one on a journey.

Sixty-six pounds of luggage is considered by airlines as quite enough nonsense for international flights. And if you think otherwise, bring your checkbook to back up your opinions. With four or five books the size of "Andersonville" and "Marjorie Morningstar" going along, you are beat.

The difference in travelers like these two and ourselves interests me. We take "vacations"—not holidays. We do not load up the valises with reading material. I wouldn't care to say this is an English trait as compared to an American one, but you go ahead and say it if you wish. Nor would I venture so far as suggesting that it is a writer's trait as againts a non-professional voyageur.

It is probably just a bona fide traveler's trait as opposed to a one-shot vacationer's.

Most of us travel so little we are ga-ga at sights along the way. How could we give ourselves to reading when there are new people to stare at, games on deck to be played, old cathedrals to gape at, deserts to be driven across by night, mountains to be climbed, lakes to be sailed, restaurants to be visited?

Reading, to us, is an anodyne (and a delightful one) to be partook of amid surroundings familiar. Not on vacation, with the excitements and delights of reality beating against our senses. Reading is for long quiet evenings (in bed, preferably) before a fire, for long afternoons on the side porch or for just any old time when you are free to leave home territory in imagination. But not on vacation, when you leave home in actuality.

If I'm traveling, I'm looking and listening and talking and drinking and eating and dancing and raising all the, uh, roof within bounds of decorous hi-jinks. Reading, no. I can't be two places at once like these writers say they can. To read I must take yet another journey with the author and his absorbing corps of characters. To go on two trips at once confuses me. I never will forgive myself for taking "Rebecca" on a boat trip. Never budged from the cabin until the book was finished, and though I read like lightning I missed the masquerade ball and everything! I could have won first prize just dressed as usual, hang it!

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Harry Kurnitz told Caskie Stinnett about the day a writer invaded the two-by-four office of a struggling Hollywood agent with a small package in his arms. "What's in that package?" demanded the suspicious agent. "An inflatable lifeboat that will hold eight men," said writer.

"One more wisecrack," decreed the agent, "and I no longer represent you. Now what's in that package?"

So the writer opened the package, pushed the button on the compressed air cylinder, and fled. The boat backed the agent so tightly into a corner it took the fire department to hack him out.

At the British Broadcasting Company, wows Paul Porter, they have a category for documents more sacred even than those classified as "top secret." These ultra-precious papers are stamped "B. B. B.", an abbreviation for "Burn Before Reading."

Tides occur in lakes as well as the seas. At Chicago, for instance, there is a two-inch tide in Lake Michigan.

Of the larger whales, only the sperm whale has teeth in the adult form.

Kefauver Maps Strategy For One Last-Ditch Drive

Washington, June 26 — Senator Estes Kefauver has it all figured out how the lightning may still be enticed to strike him at the Chicago convention.

Despite his repeated primary upsets culminating with the staggering California clobbering, the irrepressible Tennessean has formulated new plans and strategy for one more drive in his long and dogged quest for the presidency.

After several days of secret pow-wowing, Kefauver and his managers reached two key decisions: (1) Continue battling for the elusive prize to the bitter end; (2) drastically change their organization and tactics. Highlights of this new set-up are as follows:

Four regional campaign managers to be directly in charge of this last-ditch fight in their areas. These field commanders are: For the East—J. Howard McGrath, who was attorney general in the Truman Administration; South—Fuller Kimbrough, Ala.; Midwest—Robert Short, Minn.; West—Thomas Carroll, Calif.

A. Bradley Eban, Chicago attorney, and McGrath to be floor managers at the convention, with full authority to make all decisions, subject only to veto by Kefauver personally.

All the 204 delegates the Tennessean believes he has to be asked to sign a 'loyalty pledge' to stick by him until he personally releases them.

In the next six weeks, Kefauver and his leaders to make a "house to house canvass" of every delegate and alternate to the convention.

In the course of this nationwide wooing of delegates and alternates, Kefauver will make a series of "major" speeches on the farm issue, foreign policy, national defense, social security, conservation and little business. His tentative schedule for these addresses is: Denver, June 28; Chicago, June 30; Knoxville, July 1; Arkansas, July 4; Utah, July 14; New Jersey, July 16; New Mexico, July 20; Massachusetts, July 24.

From July 30 to August 1, Kefauver to stage televised hearings by the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency, of which he is chairman.

It was also decided to ask all Kefauver delegates to personally contribute to this intensified drive. They will be asked to give at least $100. Joseph (Jiggs) Donohue, national manager, told the meeting he has been promised $5,000 by several well-known businessmen.

What's Behind It — The unique convention "loyalty pledge" is predicated on the contention that Kefauver's suporters have a "moral obligation" to vote for him until he frees them.

The commitment states as follows: "No delegate or alternate shall by word or deed conduct himself in such a manner as to promote the candidacy of a person other than Senator Estes Kefauver for President."

The Tennessean justifies this written promise on the ground of bitter experience at the 1952 convention. He recalled that a number of his delegates and alternates deserted him and worked for other candidates. "We don't want that to happen again, if we can help it." Kefauver told his lieutenants. They heartily agreed with him.

Already a number of Wisconsinites have signed the pledge, and it is being circulated among delegates in New Hampshire, Minnesota and other states where they were elected under Kefauver's banner.

He also claims the drive to personally contact other delegates and alternates is producing results. Following a trip to Ohio, Kefauver told Donohue and McGrath that four delegates promised to switch to him after a "favorite son" ballot for Governor Frank Lausche.

"This is a very encouraging start," said Kefauver. "If we can keep it up, we have every chance of winning at the convention."

Two factors are behind this very sincere belief: (1) Kefauver's unshakable confidence in the irresistibility of his personal appeal: (2) that Governor Harriman's backing will be the first to distintegrate, and most of it "should" shift to Kefauver.

"My getting into those primary fights was a big mistake," the Tennessean told his lieutenants. "I realize that now. The campaign wasn't worth the time and effort put into it. I should have concentrated on personally contacting delegates and local leaders. It isn't too late to do that. We must visit and talk to every delegate and alternate, particularly the uncommitted ones."

Donohue and McGrath also have the job of keeping in close touch with Carmine DeSapio, who is directing the Harriman campaign.

Just how that will work out remains to be seen, as Kefauver delegates in Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states are reporting being vigorously wooed by DeSapio. By long-distance phone and other contacts the Kefauverites are being asked for second ballot support for Harriman in the event they decide the Tennessean has no chance.

That's exactly the line Kefauver is applying to Harriman backers.

My New York —by Mel Heimer

New York — Some years back I knew some Bright Young Men and Women of the theatre who lived in a coldwater flat in Third avenue. They obviously were on their way up the ladder, most of them, and some of them since have made it in a moderate way, have become successful actresses, designers, dancers, etc.

They had these flingy little walk-up apartments in a building that should have been condemned, but it seemingly was a great lark for them, and they put up French and Italian travel posters on the wall, took baths in iron tubs in the kitchen, kept warm with pot-bellied stoves and sat around on snowy nights discussing Stanislavski. "This," I thought mournfully—for I was old, even then—"is the way to live. They have made a song out of existence."

"Listen," Miss Joanne Woodward told me today, slumped gracefully in a chair and peering out from under a straw hat she said someone gave her as a joke, "I have had that kind of life. If you would like it, I give it to you with six points."

Joanne, who is the brightest new movie actress, soon to be seen as Robert Wagner's ill-starred inamorata in A Kiss Before Dying, blew into Manhattan from the Deep South in 1950. It was her 20th birthday and she and another young actress named Rawn Harding got themselves a coldwater flat in York avenue around the Seventies and prepared to revel in suffering for their Art.

"It was noisy," Miss W. recalled. "Not just plain noisy. Noisy noisy. We lived right by a motorcycle club and at 4 a.m. all the cycles would roar off into the night—waking us in a panic and making us feel as if were in a Marlon Brando movie.

"It was dirty. We had to walk up five flights to get to our little dream apartment and when we got there, there were all sizes cockroaches and a rat or two once in a while. The icebox overflowed and let me tell you this about coldwater apartments — they're cold."

The custom of monarchs speaking of themselves as "we" is the throwback to the days when there were two Roman emperors, one in Italy and one in Constantinople, who issued decrees under their joint authority, using the plural "we."

The present population of the world is estimated to be two billion, 528 million persons, an increase during the past year of about 35 million.

Motor Club Labors For Clean Roads

POCONO Mountains Motor Club is joining the crusade for cleaner highways.

The club's board of governors met last night and disclosed that the organization has purchased 1,000 sturdy, wet-strength paper bags, which will be distributed to visiting motorists and members with the recommendation that they refrain from being "litterbugs."

It was also announced last night that the club's membership has jumped to 2,722, with the approval of 48 new members.

Report

Mrs. Cynthia Watt, club secretary, presented a report on the recent conference of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation at Pocono Manor.

Mrs. Watt pointed out that a Federal road program, involving Routes 209 and 611, will be of great benefit to the entire Pocono area.

It is also likely that the Sharon-Stroudsburg Keystone Shortway will be included in that same program, if it does not go through as a toll road, she said.

The board also heard from club president R. LeRoy Bengler, who recently met with district highway officials in Allentown, along with Charles De LaBar, president of the Western Pocono Association, and Wiltold Tilwick.

Dengler said the group received "very satisfactory cooperation" from highway officials regarding their request that traffic signals be more suitably spaced in Wind Gap to alleviate traffic congestion on Route 115 from Wind Gap to Saylorsburg.

The group also requested that better directional signs for the Poconos be erected on Route 22, the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton By-Pass, Dengler said. The delegation was promised the fullest cooperation of highway officials.

Other board members, in addition to Dengler, attending last night's meeting were Amzi Altemose, Harvey Blair, Clair Learn, Eugene Leffler, Frank LaBar, Roger Miller, Dr. Thomas Larkin and George Woolbaugh.

Fireworks Ticket Drive Bogs Down

THE FIREWORKS committee of the Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg, reported last night that its fund-raising campaign has bogged down.

Only $1,300 has been raised to date through the sale of tickets for the gigantic fireworks display the firemen wil present at Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, on the night of July 4.

At the outset of the drive, the firemen confidently expected to raise $5,000. The money is needed, Committee Chairman Tom Sexton explained, to help finance a new building to replace the one on Day St. which was destroyed in the last August's flood.

Equipment Lost

All of the firemen's carnival and game equipment was lost when the building was washed away. The annual carnival for years has been the company's only means to raise funds.

There will be no more house-to-house canvassing to sell tickets. Persons may order them, however, by calling one of three telephone numbers, 846, 653 or 3453. The tickets also may be obtained from any fireman and at the D-J Record Shop and at Rea and Derick's Drug Store in Stroudsburg.

Request To Be Mailed To Harrisburg

PORTLAND — A request that the State Department of Public Instruction review the proposed four-district school jointure here will be forwarded to Dr. Charles Boehm, state superintendent, and an aide, Dr. Ray Robinson, in Harrisburg.

A motion calling for a hearing on the proposal was approved Monday night in a meeting of the Republican Club of Portland and Upper Mt. Bethel Township at Tuscarora Inn, south of Portland.

A panel discussion was held and previous efforts to obtain state approval for the four-district jointure were reviewed. The districts are Portland, Upper Mt. Bethel, East Bangor and Washington Township.

Chairman

Alfred Nittle, of East Bangor, was chairman of the panel. Walter Emery, a member of the Portland School Board, said that 18 of the 20 school directors in the four districts favored the jointure.

Paul Bittenbender and Claude Beck, Upper Mt. Bethel directors, told of the savings to taxpayers anticipated under the proposed jointure.

Raymond Scott, another Portland school director, gave a fiscal analysis of joint operation for grades one through 12 and outlined elementary and secondary operational costs, rentals, transportation costs, nurses' salary, state subsidies, net costs and local tax efforts.

Russell Sandercock, a member of the East Bangor School Board, gave a report on state reimbursable project costs to 18 Pennsylvania counties and compared them to reimbursements received by Northampton County.

Another highlight of the meeting was the nomination of officers to be elected at the next meeting in September. Paul Hay was named to succeed Fred Heinsohn as president; Elsie Heinsohn was nominated vice president; Lillian MacNamee, secretary; Gwladys Carpenter, assistant; Wallace Hutcheson, treasurer; Wallace Stine, Margaret Van Vorst and Asa Shumaker, directors for three years. A. Pilloud reported for the nominating committee.

Luther Ackerman, of Stone Church, district chairman, reported on the meeting held June 23 in Easton at which Donald Mack was elected county chairman and Mrs. Frances Chase, also of Palmer Township, vice chairman.

County Prisoner Fails In Bid To Win Freedom From Jail

A MONROE COUNTY PRISONER has failed in a bid to win his freedom from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he is serving 2½ to 5 years on a burglary conviction.

President Judge Fred W. Davis yesterday dismissed the petition of LeRoy Charles Treible for a writ of habeas corpus on the grounds that "the court may not substitute its judgment for that of the Parole Board."

Treible was sentenced May 8, 1954 after he pleaded guilty to breaking into DL&W Railroad freight cars near his home in Analomink and stealing quantities of meat, merchandise, insulin and penicillin. Two juveniles also were involved.

After serving 17 months, Treible was successful in his petition for parole, which was to have become effective Jan. 4, 1956.

However, on the day he was to be released, records show, he was charged by prison officials with drinking and giving fellow inmates alcoholic beverages while out on the prison farm.

Denial

In his petition for a writ of habeas corpus, the prisoner denied these charges and claimed that he admitted to them only "after being threatened with revocation of parole and in fear of bodily harm."

At any rate, he spent 20 days in solitary confinement, his petition states. After being returned to the general prison population, he learned that his parole had been revoked and that he must serve an additional 18 months before he would be eligible for another hearing before the Parole Board.

In dismissing Treible's petition, Judge Davis said that "considering the factual allegations of the petition as true, they furnish no grounds for relief in this court since all matters of parole are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Parole Board."

"The defendant does not question the legality of the sentence . . . ," the jurist noted, "but complains only of the manner in which the Parole Board is performing its duties.

"Under the law," he added, "the court may not substitute its judgment for that of the Parole Board.

"The request for a writ of habeas corpus is denied and petition is dismissed," Judge Davis ruled.

Gap Council Plans Work

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Borough Council is taking temporary steps to check a leak in a water pipe under the retaining wall of the Cherry Creek Bridge, next to the Elim Gray property. The temporary measure will not effect water service.

Martins Creek Plant Operates

ELECTRIC POWER from the new second unit of Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's Martins Creek steam electric plant surged into the company's vast power supply system for the first time at 12:26 a. m., Monday.

J. A. Snyder, PP&L's Assistant General Superintendent, closed the switch which synchronized, or brought the new unit "in step" with the rest of the system. Only when the unit's turbine reaches the exact speed at which all other PP&L generating units are operating, can the switch be closed to successfully tie this new unit into the system. Present for the important synchronizing operation were H. Ferguson, Operating Vice President; W. J. D. Geary, General Superintendent; C. E. Lewis, Superintendent of Generation; E. L. Rerig, Technical Asst. to Superintendent of Generation; W. H. Kopenhaver, Martins Creek Plant Superintendent; J. S. McKelvey, Asst. Superintendent at Martins Creek; along with various other PP&L operating and technical personnel. Also in attendance were various manufacturers' representatives.

The new unit is expected to add about 160,000 kilowatts of generating capability to the PP&L system. This brings the company's total generating capability to nearly one and a half million kilowatts, or more than three times its capability at the close of World War II.

Pocono Playhouse

'Bus Stop' Features Cast Of Excellent Actors, Brilliant Set, Masterful Stage Manner

By Leonard Randolph

MOUNTAINHOME—One way to write a play is to first think up some people. If the people are honestly drawn, this is often enough to make a good play. Infrequently, as in the case of Chekhov's "Three Sisters" or "The Sea Gull", the result is greatness.

Of the modern practitioners of this slender craft I should say that William Inge is very likely pretender to the throne. In "Picnic," Inge demonstrated what a group of women might do if a musclebound tramp suddenly came on the scene and disrupted their shallow, well-channeled lives.

In "Bus Stop" he's up to the same old tricks with a few sharp variations. It is a good piece of entertainment — funny, frequently poignant and robustly written. In its present production at Pocono Playhouse it has been given an excellent set of actors, a brilliant set and masterfully mannered staging.

"Bus Stop" throws a group of men and women together in a diner out in the Kansas prairie when their bus is stranded by a storm. There are eight of them: "Cherie", a night club "chantoosie" being taken to Montana against her will by a love-strayed caveman-cowboy named "Bo Decker", aided and abetted reluctantly by his protector, "Virgil"; "Grace", owner of the diner; "Elma", her teen-age waitress; "Dr. Gerald Lyman", an eledrly, lecherous, learned gent who tips a bottle of rye and spouts wry passages from Shakespeare; "Will Masters", the local arm of the law and "Carl", the bus driver.

Rotation

Inge has written his play in a style of a good fast game of rotation pool. Each scene is split into a series of small conversational vignettes. In some plays this would be a structural weakness. In "Bus Stop" it is a saving grace. For the play has been staged in a style which I think should one day be known as "Clurmanesque", after Harold Clurman who uses it most broadly and often. It creates a focal point in two or three actors within a scene while the rest of those onstage react to their own silent pantomimed "conversations".

Harry Young has handled the technique, as director, in excellent style. On the production side he has been assisted with intelligence by Ballou whose set is a marvel of realistic, rundown charm straight out of all the midwestern diners ever built. Most of the acting matches the direction and scenic design in brilliance. All of it is well-reasoned and intellectually thorough.

Barbara Baxley plays "Cherie" and she is physically perfect—slight enough to appear helpless when she wants to, attractive, charming and possessed of an enchanting natural voice. I'm afraid, though, that Miss Baxley's hot buttered Ozark accent is destroying a part of what is otherwise a beautiful performance. She uses it so broadly that, in at least two scenes, it becomes labored. In the scenes in which she suddenly drifted away from New York's idea of Arkansas sing-song she was wonderful.

Elaine Stritch, who made an everlasting impression on me a few years back by breaking up "Pal Joey" with a song called "Zip", is exactly right as "Grace." Miss Stritch can project an earthy, slightly acid personality as well as anyone around. And she has a voice that is pure rough gold.

Praise

On the whole I thought Mark Miller and Howard Fischer did more with their parts, individually, than anyone else in the cast. Miller's study of a thwarted rough-house lover could hardly be improved in any way. Fischer turns the two-dimensional sheriff into a fully-honest, believable human. Patricia Faye's simple, candid portrait of "Elma" is lovely; Crahan Denton is fine as "Virgil" and Young's interpretation of the bus driver is also good.

I have saved Glenn Anders' performance of the third "lead" —the alcoholic, pseudo-philosophical professor—to the last—mainly because I am still puzzled by it. Inge has put little conviction into writing the part. Anders has put even less. His "drunkenness" is calculated for comedy, but it emerges as badly-projected and unconvincing caricature instead. With the exception of his final scene when, for a brief moment, Anders showed a flicker of emotion, his performance left me amused with its brittle, surface character. Anders has the funniest line in the play—a crack about Chaucer—and I thought he made the absolute most of that one.

William Inge has said little that is new in "Bus Stop." The assertions he has made about life in general are minor. But the language is forcible and real. And he has assembled a group of characters who buffet each other about in a highly humorous fashion.

Inge has saved his one serious and true statement for the last spoken line in the play. Virgil, of all the people in "Bus Stop", is the most selfless. He has devoted most of his life to the creation of "Bo Decker" the man. When "Bo" humbles himself and crosses the doorsill to discovery of himself as a man, "Virgil" makes the one genuinely grand sacrificial gesture the play has.

And in the end it is Virgil who has broken the common pattern of life and condemned himself to the life of a stranger in a wilderness waiting for another wandering bus.

S. S. Kresge To Be Honored With Testimonial At YMCA

S. S. KRESGE, Monroe County native who rose to national fame as a chain store operator and a leading philanthropist, will be honored at a testimonial dinner tomorrow night at the YMCA.

The 89-year-old Mountainhome resident, now retired, made possible the construction of the modern, spacious YMCA in Stroudsburg by contributing $252,300 to the building fund through the S. S. Kresge Foundation.

The YMCA Board of Directors had planned to pay tribute to Kresge last October, but he was unable to be present at that time and the testimonial was postponed until Thursday night.

E. Holt Wyckoff, chairman of the banquet committee, will present a National YMCA award to Kresge in recognition for what his philanthropy had done for the young people of this community.

An additional honor will be paid to Kresge for the substantial contribution he made to the Monroe County General Hospital building fund several years ago. The tribute will come in brief remarks to be made by Dr. Claus Jordan, chief surgeon at the hospital.

Expressions

Clarence Beerweiler, chairman of the Wilkes-Barre YMCA and manager of the S. S. Kresge store in that city, will express thanks for the large Kresge donation to the YMCA in Wilkes-Barre. Similar sentiments will be brought by a Mr. Smith for the gift of funds made to the Newark, N. J., YMCA.

The dinner is scheduled for 7 p. m. Clifford R. Gillam, of Buck Hill Falls, one of the county's foremost civic leaders, will serve as toastmaster at the brief program. He will be introduced by J. Albert Groner, president of the YMCA board.

An address will be presented by Joel E. Nystrom, executive for the National YMCA Endowment Fund Committee. A frequent traveler to all parts of the country, he has major responsibility for the national board's relations with corporations and foundations, special gifts and bequests.

He has worked closely with YMCA movements in eight South American countries and studied at first hand the social, political and economic problems of the entire continent.

Rev. Frank H. Blatt will offer the invocation and Rev. Harold MacMurray the benediction. They are members of Wyckoff's committee, along with Dr. Claude W. Leister, Merle C. Ostrom and John R. Wilson, YMCA secretary. Harry Albert will lead the singing.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrock

It's good grandmother weather — at least judging by the parade of baby-carriages on Main Street yesterday afternoon. And judging by appearances, that is one of the pleasantest of the chores that fall to a grandmother's lot.

Rested and rosy from their naps, their hair curling from the dampness, and dressed in their best, it's no wonder those grandchildren stop traffic. And grandmothers, with getting-supper down to a science, and unhurried by diapers and formulas, are quite willing to stop and let them be admired, too.

Also willing to be admired was the monkey who was a guest at the AAUW board picnic last night at the Wild Animal Farm, especially after seeing what the members brought for supper with salads high on the list.

Board meetings are always interesting because you catch up on the news. Item One: Mary Jane Reid, who taught kindergarten at the college about 12 years ago, is winding up a three-year stay in Ethiopia where she's been setting up elementary schools. Item Two: Dr. Dorothy Lucker is going to be at Indiana State Teachers College next year.

Item Three: oh, that's the one that isn't to be made public. And anyway, I want to save some tidbits for the summer doldrums. Which haven't reached the weddings yet. I've six on the waiting list so far.

After the meeting, the Altar and Rosary members entertained the ten priests who were guests, and the members, with a social hour and tea. Color scheme of the long buffet table was yellow, pink and white, with floral arrangements of gladiolas, peonies and baby-breath and yellow tapers in silver candelabra.

The Altar and Rosary Society will hold a bake sale in the church hall next Sunday after the last four masses when hot coffee and homemade doughnuts will also be available.

OUTDOOR DECOR

The sameness in suburban development is disappearing. Homeowners are doing a big job of creating individuality. Landscaping and ornamental iron effects have contributed to this new variety. The mail box, one of the first sights to greet the passerby, lends itself to imaginative treatment. Grace your house with a welcome air; make your mail box the distinctive, personalized key to your home.

The sameness in floor coverings has disappeared, too. Today, we find the market flooded with hard-surfaced materials that are as attractive as they are practical. A favorite in this line is Good Year Vinyl! And, small wonder, when you consider that they never need waxing and have superior resistance to denting, scratching and abrasive wear. See the delightful Good Year line of Vinyl floors, walls and counter tops at the Monroe County General Flooring Co., 914 North 9th Street, Stroudsburg. Phone 508-J.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Quite a surprise when a stranger meandered down Main Street looking in the store windows Monday during our broadcast from the Music Store. And what a tragic looking fello whe was, with his sad, sad eyes, his straggly black hair, and his tattered clothes. If it hadn't been for his sign, "Shop the Second Floor for Real Jumbo Values", we'd all have vowed he just arrived by freight car . . . but the plug for Wyckoff's branded him as Douglas Gordon, ringmaster of Ring Two in our June Jumboree of Values.

Doug's torn trousers and sleeveless jacket was probably symbolic in several ways. He may have been impersonating a shopper caught in the rush the first morning of our sale. He may have been showing the world that he and his teammates are working themselves to shreds to find truly outstanding Jumbo values. Or maybe he's been so caught up in the Circus atmosphere he's decided to hit the sawdust trail. In any case it was amusing . . . clever . . . and a big laugh for all who encountered him.

Holt Wyckoff's invitation to copy down the words of the song we sing each morning over the air, and thus win a 5.00 gift certificate, should prove an easy way to cash in on Jumbo values. It all began when Pete Wyckoff said our store singing was no better than the children's singing from Bible School . . . that our enunciation left too much to be desired. Of course, as he later admitted, he was listening to the broadcast from a bathroom where the water was running as he shaved, and the door was closed.

In any case, when we broadcast from the Music Store again this morning, do listen with pad and pencil handy, and see if you can jot down the words. If you should be the first one to submit our lyrics to "The Man on the Flying Trapeze", you'll have 5.00 to spend on Jumbo values. So hurry now and brush up on your shorthand.

this littel shirt without no sleeves cums from the boys department on the second fiore. It only costs 89c and the sizes are 4 to 12. Since sum kids might lissen to your show, why dont you tell thum abut it?

While the spelling may leave something to be desired, the shirt itself cannot. It's the official garb of Walt Disney's "Mickey Mouse Club Mouseketeers", and it has a bright black and orange design on the front with Mickey's picture beaming forth for the world to see. A nylon reinforced collar assures perfect fit after many washings.

One of our greatest June Jumbo values is a 3.98 wrap around sundress with back closing. In blue, pink, or green check on white with white pique trim, this is a usual 5.98 seller, and as cute as any dress of its kind you could possibly buy at any price. # Worthington Tractors Win Wide Acclaim

THE PRODUCT of a leading Stroudsburg industry is winning wide acclaim in states as far away as Idaho.

It is Worthington Mower Co.'s Model G tractor with hydraulic sickle bar.

Although the Model G has been standard equipment on many golf courses, park departments and institutions throughout the United States and Canada, the company found that with certain modifications the same model was particularly adaptable for highway work.

What makes it especially attractive to state officials, aside from its maneuverability and economy of operation, is its low center of gravity which allows for an unmatched performance of driving safety, points out Sales Manager W. U. Roulette Jr.

Worthington plant has found it necessary to increase production schedules on three occasions this year because of demands for the Model G and other Worthington equipment.

TRACTOR WITH HIGH SAFETY FACTOR—Ohio Turnpike Commission recently purchased 16 Worthington Mower Co. Model G tractors with hydraulic sickle bars. Six of them are shown at the Stroudsburg plant ready for shipment. Idaho Highway Department purchased 14 tractors, Connecticut 15 and Massachusetts 10. The Worthington tractor is receiving wide acceptance because its low center of gravity permits greater safety in operation.

Business

General Plant Manager H. G. Sanborn said that due to the increase in highway business and the production program, the layoffs of personnel which usually take place in the Summer will probably be unlikely this year.

Sanborn and Roulette traced the development of the Model G over the last five years. They recalled that various state highway departments, the Army Corps of Engineers and safety experts called the company's attention to the extremely high fatality rate for tractor operators when the conventional industrial-type tractor was used on slopes.

National Safety Council reported, for example, that 55 percent of the fatal accidents on industrial tractors are due to overturning.

Sanborn and Roulette said Worthington officials felt the company could contribute something to the safety of highway maintenance personnel and modified the Model G so that it had a ratio of five to one between overall width and height of the center of gravity.

The result, they said, was a tractor that can negotiate slopes in all directions—up and down as well as sideways—as steep as 35 degrees without overturning.

"As a matter of fact," said Roulette, "the New Jersey Turnpike, who are owners of 23 of the Worthington Model G tractors, are negotiating slopes as steep as 38 degrees. We have never known of a Model G to overturn."

Because of the high maintenance cost of the mechanical sickle bars (in some states as high as $500 per bar per year), Worthington looked for a hydraulically operated one, heavily constructed for highway work. Adoption of the time-tested Hydro-Clipper developed by Triumph Machinery Co., Hackettstown, N. J., followed. Results have been that sickle bar maintenance costs have been cut in half, the local industry reported.

Highway engineers in a number of states have conducted time study demonstrations in cooperation with Worthington. They used their own operators driving the Model G with Hydro-Clipper and also their industrial tractors with competitive mechanical bars and competitive hydraulically actuated bars.

Favorable

"In every instance the results were more favorable than we expected," a Worthington spokesman said. "In an adjoining state, for instance, the time studies proved that three to six more miles per eight-hour day could be mowed on shoulder work with the Worthington combination than any other tractor and sickle bar."

This was not only because the Worthington can cut at a faster forward speed, but the transportation speed of up to 40 miles per hour cuts the between-time job travel down to the bare minimum, it was pointed out.

Among those currently using the Worthington Model G are the turnpike commissions in New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania; the highway departments in Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, Virginia, Texas, Vermont and Idaho, and many county highway departments such as Wayne County, Mich.

In a demonstration before the chief safety engineer of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, the impression was so favorable that all headquarters were notified that the Worthington Model G. is the most acceptable tractor from a safety standpoint for mowing flood control banks, levees and dams. This was unsolicited, the company said.

"We know of no other tractor and sickle bar combination that can meet the safety requirements that many state and federal agencies are now requiring for slope mowing. We know of no other combination that can approach the low mowing and maintenance cost of the Worthington Model G," the spokesman added.

Festival Merchandise Stolen

THE POLLYANNA Club of the Mount Eaton Lutheran and Reformed Church likes to spread a bit of sunshine — and lend a helping hand — in the Saylorsburg area.

Club Secretary Nellie Kostenbader puts it this way: "It has always been the aim of this group to spread a bit of good-will in our community to those who are ill, to the boys in service, as well as financing a number of improvements in our church."

Recently, the club purchased two pews for the renovated church at a cost of $300. And to help finance the matter, club members decided to hold a festival last Saturday.

Bad Weather

However, the event turned out to be a flop because of bad weather. But the club members were undaunted. They locked up their refreshment stand and decided to sell the fool and softdrink to churchgoers the next morning.

"To our surprise," the secretary reported, "we discovered some one —or ones — broke into the stand and almost completely looted its entire contents.

"It's hard to believe some people would commit a crime of this type," she added, unbelievingly.

Value of the loot was estimated between $25 to $30.

Meanwhile, authorities have begun an investigation of the incident.

Bangor Yanks' Bob Ferris Hurls Babe Ruth No-Hitter

Also Clouts Two Home Runs To Help Mates Rap Roseto 17-1

BANGOR—Bob Ferris hurled a no-hitter and belted out two home runs to lead the Bangor Yanks to a 17-1 victory over Roseto in a Slate Belt Babe Ruth League game at Memorial Stadium here last nght.

Roseto's only run came when the Bangor pitcher suffered a momentary loss of control and allowed a baserunner on a walk and hurled three successive wild pitches, enabling the runner to come home.

Two Homers

Ferris' two homers came with one on and with the sacks empty.

It was the fourth win in seven outings for Bangor and the seventh loss in nine starts for Roseto.

Ferris' no-hitter was the third pitched by a Bangor Yank twirler this year, Brian Jones having pitched two straight less than a month ago.

Bankers Rap Methodists In Eastburg LL

NATIONAL BANK handed Methodist Church its seventh straight reversal in the East Stroudsburg Little League last night. The final score was 15-3. The game was called after four innings because of darkness.

A ten-run fourth frame put the game out of reach of the Methodists.

It was the fifth win in eight games for the Bankers and tied them with Heller-Lloyd-Howell for second place.

Talasz was the winning hurler, outpitching Jack Vinyard.

Deiter and Talasz garnered two hits each to lead National Bank.

Today's Game

Heller-Lloyd-Howell will meet National Bank in a regularly scheduled game today at Little League Park. The contest will start at 6:30 p.m.

Following the tilt a cakewalk will be held at the Park. The "Walk" is under the sponsorship of the mothers group of Little League players. All East Stroudsburg parents are urged to attend the fund-raising affair.

Indians Edge Orioles 4-3 On 2 Doubles

CLEVELAND, June 26 (AP)—Consecutive doubles by Bob Avila and Gene Woodling in the seventh inning gave the Cleveland Indians their seventh straight victory tonight, a 4-3 decision over the Baltimore Orioles. It is the Tribe's longest winning streak since 1954.

The doubles broke a 3-3 tie and gave Early Wynn his eighth victory in 12 decisions.

The loss went to George Zuverink, who relieved starter Connie Johnson in the sixth inning to stop a three-run Cleveland rally that tied the game.

Wynn held the Orioles to five hits, and gave up single runs in the second, third and sixth innings.

Yanks Trip Kansas City Via 'Formula'

KANSAS CITY, June 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees softened up Kansas City with their most familiar weapon—the home run—then slapped out an assortment of other bingles to defeat the Athletics 8-4 tonight and maintain their hold on first place.

Yogi Berra served notice of things to come with a solo homer in the second. The A's came back in their half to rack Whitey Ford for three runs after two were out on two walks, a double and two singles.

Billy Martin homered in the third and the Yanks went ahead in the fourth on Andy Carey's double and a squeeze bunt. Carey hit the third Yank homer of the night in the sixth and from then on the Yanks had it their own way.

Archie Sees Floyd Ready By September

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 26 (AP)—Light - heavyweight champion Archie Moore said today that if everything goes as planned, he will fight Floyd Patterson the week of Sept. 17 in Yankee Stadium.

Moore said the two fighters and their managers will meet in Detroit Thursday to work out details of the heavyweight bout.

Moore was aboard an airliner which made an unscheduled landing here today because of engine trouble.

A reporter asked Moore how Patterson, with a broken hand suffered in a bout with Hurricane Jackson, could fight so soon.

"I don't think his hand was too badly injured," said Moore. "A fighter can't land the damaging blows Patterson landed in the ninth and 10th rounds with a broken hand."

Moore plans to meet James J. Parker in a Toronto ring July 25.

Walker's Bat Leads Brooks By Cubs 10-5

BROOKLYN, June 26 (AP)—Al Rube Walker, Brooklyn's seldom seen second-string catcher, drove in six runs with a home run, a triple and a double tonight as the Dodgers belted the Chicago Cubs 10-5 on 11 hits that also included a pair of home runs by Jackie Robinson.

Roy Campanella, the Dodgers' ace backstop, was on the bench with a swollen thumb for this one and the 30-year-old Walker, making only his 12th appearance behind the plate this season, made the most of it.

With Walker leading the way, veteran Sal Maglie became the first Brooklyn pitcher to go the distance in the last 19 games, winning his second in three decisions on an eight-hitter that included home runs by Gene Baker and Walt Moryn.

Chisox Top Bosox Behind Harshman

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Left-hander Jack Harshman turned in a brilliant three-hitter tonight as the rampaging Chicago White Sox rolled to their ninth straight triumph with a 4-1 decision over the Boston Red Sox before a crowd of 37,490.

Harshman, in posting his fifth triumph in nine games, took a scoreless string of 20-innings into tonight's battle. Boston made quick work of that with a run in the first on a walk and singles by Dick Gernert and Jackie Jensen.

14 Straight

But that was all for the Red Sox. Harshman set Boston down the rest of the way except for a ninth-inning single by Jensen. Harshman retired 14 straight batters in one stretch.

The Sox got to Boston starter Tom Brewer for three runs in the second and added another off reliefer Frank Baumann after Brewer, who had allowed only three hits, was lifted for a pinch batter in the seventh.

9th Complete

Harshman's performance was the ninth complete game turned in by Sox pitchers in their last 13 outings. For Harshman, who shut out Washington on four hits and Baltimore on one single in his last two tries, it was his fifth complete game.

Hogan Leads U. S. To Cup Championship

VIRGINIA WATER, England, June 26 (AP)—Ben Hogan won the International golf championship and led America to victory in the Canada Cup today to prove that even on a lame leg and near exhaustion he still is the greatest golf player since Bobby Jones put down his clubs 26 years ago.

Hogan—"The Wee Ice Mon" to the Scots and "Oh Rare Ben Hogan" to the English—transformed a two-stroke deficit into a five-stroke lead within nine holes on the pay-off round today.

He flashed past Canada's Stan Leonard and Mexico's Robert De Vicenzo, finishing with a 27 for the 72-hole individual International championship. His final round was a 68.

Ben 277, Snead 240

Hogan's 277 and Sam Snead's 290 after another final round in 68, easily were low enough to give America's two most famous golfers the Canada Cup for national teams with a 567 score.

The shot of the day, and maybe the shot of the year, was made by Hogan on the fourth hole in the last round. He had just taken the lead from Leonard, but the issue was still swinging.

Hogan's second shot on the 505-yard fourth went into a bunker 60 feet from the pin. Just as Hogan did three years ago at Carnoustie when he won the British Open, he holed out the shot, this time for an eagle three.

Hogan gave a big wink and a smile to a group of newsmen by the green.

For the individual championship De Vicenzo, an Argentine now living in Mexico, finished second with a 282 total.

Europe's best golfer, Flory Van Donck of Royal Waterloo, Belgium, had a 283. Dai Rees of Wales was fourth with 284. Bobby Locke of South Africa was fifth with 285. Leonard, the third-round leader, slumped to sixth with a final round of 79 for 286.

Sam Snead overcame a harsh pain in his right hand and a terrific slump in his game to produce the final round of 68 for his 290 total.

America's team total of 567 was 14 strokes better than anyone else in the field. South Africa was second with 581.

Wins Ladies Golf

DETROIT, June 26 (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge won the Ladies Professional Golf Assn. championship yesterday in a sudden-death playoff with Patty Berg.

Brough, Gibson Pace U. S. In Women's Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26 (AP)—Louise Brough, seeking her fifth Wimbledon singles crown and Althea Gibson, after her first tennis title here, led a victorious batch of Americans through the first day of women's singles play today.

Some 22,000 spectators, including former President Harry S. Truman, took advantage of a gorgeous, sunny day to pack the far-flung Wimbledon layout. They saw the American ladies sweep all their 10 singles matches.

End Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. Truman, winding up their European holiday here, sat in the royal box on the center court and departed after about 2 hours after seeing top-seeded Miss Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., eliminate Jean Forbes, pretty 16-year-old South African 6-0, 6-0.

Miss Gibson, fourth-seeded New Yorker, had a more difficult time in defeating Edda Buding, a 19-year-old German lass, 6-4, 6-2. Althea, playing at Wimbledon for the first time since 1951 when she was eliminated in the early rounds, appeared nervous as a kitten before the packed stands at the No. 2 court.

Her showing somewhat disappointed some of the fans who expected her to make short work of Miss Buding. The American star came here after 18 European and British tournament trophies. Her victory string included a triumph over Miss Brough.

Doubles Victors

In the men's doubles, the second seeded American team of Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., won their first-round match by downing the French team of Jean Borotra and Mustafa Belkhodja 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

The No. 1 court match brought another hour of acclaim for Borotra, the one-time "Bounding Basque" and one of the great figures in tennis history. Borotra, who will be 58 in August, won the Wimbledon singles title 32 years ago.

Costa Risks No. 4 Rating In TV Fiasco

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Carmelo Costa risks his ranking as No. 4 featherweight contender against Ike Chestnut, recent graduate to the main event class, in the regular Wednesday night TV bout tomorrow. The little men clash at Capitol Arena in a 10-rounder.

It will be their third meeting, and by far the most important in their quest for a crack at Sandy Saddler's featherweight title.

Won 2 Years Ago

Costa, 21-year-old combination puncher from Brooklyn, decisioned Chestnut two years ago when both were trying to make a name for themselves as prelim boys. Some time before that, when both were amateurs, Chestnut outpointed Costa.

Griffith Fund

Paying customers tomorrow night will be chipping in to the Clark Griffith Memorial Fund, established to build a monument to the late owner of Washington's baseball senators. The home audience will be able to take in the proceedings via radio or television (ABC) at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Sulky Chauffeur Drives Too Slow

HAMBURG, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Sulky driver Levi Harner of Bloomsburg, Pa., was fined $250 yesterday for failing to maintain "a reasonable rate of speed going to half" in a race at Buffalo Raceway last Saturday.

Harner elected to pay the fine rather than accept an alternative imposed by the State Harness Racing Commission of a five-day suspension.

Close To Record

OCEANPORT—Sam Boulmetis, who set a record of 81 victories during the 50 days of the 1955 Monmouth Park meeting is keeping close to the pace of that remarkable effort during the early days of the current session. After eight days, Boulmetis had 11 winners, just two off the 13 he had a year ago.

Teen Umpire Makes Grade In Pro Loop

ABILENE, Tex., (AP)—It was literally from "Little League to Class B" for one of the youngest umpires in professional baseball history.

But tender age is no handicap for Wade Batten in dealing with the salty old characters of the game. They say in the big State League that the 19-year-old Batten is a good prospect for the big leagues.

"Good Break"

Batten broke in as a professional umpire at 18. He called it "just a good break."

Wade, a native of Evansville Ind., was so young when he graduated from George Barr's umpire school that he couldn't get a job. But along came Howard Green, then president of the Big State League, a class B circuit. So now he's in his second year as an arbiter in this league.

Batten became an umpire at 15. "After that I worked in semi-pro ball, in Little Leagues, anywhere I could get experience," he recalls. "I used to talk to the pro umps every chance I got, even made a tour around the Three I League with some of them when I was 17. At the end of that season (three years ago) I called three games in the Three I League.

Wilkes Grid Card For '56 Is Revised

WILKES-BARRE—The revised Wilkes College football schedule for 1956 lists four home games for the Colonels and an appearance in the traditional Bologna Bowl game against Lebanon Valley at Reading.

Wilkes will meet three new opponents, Ursinus, Susquehanna and Pennsylvania Military College this year and will also renew grid relations with Lycoming.

The Colonels will again be coached by Russell R. Picton, 1955 graduate.

The Schedule

Sept. 22—Hofstra, home (night); Sept. 29—Lebanon Valley at Reading; Oct. 6—Ithaca, home (night); Oct. 13—Ursinus, home (homecoming); Oct. 20—Lyoming at Williamsport; Oct. 27—Susquehanna at Sellingsgrove; Nov. 3—Pennsylvania Military College, home; Nov. 10—Bridgeport, Conn.; Nov. 17—Moravian at Bethlehem.

Races Slated Sunday Night At Nazareth

NAZARETH—Night stock car racing will make its debut at the Nazareth Fairgrounds this coming Sunday, July 1 — at 8:15 o'clock.

The track, being regroomed for the speed shows under the stars will continue on a night schedule during the summer months.

More than 50 New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania drivers will be ready for the first heat when the night shows get underway. There will be a number of newcomers participating in the arc-light races.

The top drivers to date have been Dave Rapp, Otto Harwi, Fred Fehr, Harry Charles, Blackie Reider, Ken Wismer, Carl Van Horn, and these veterans will be challenged by a number of all-star chauffeurs from other raceways.

Defending Champ

The feature winner last week, Harwi, is the 1955 defending champion. He is running very fast, but is drawing tougher competition each week.

The influx of New York and northern New Jersey drivers has been putting the pressure on the Pennsylvania contingent.

The track located at intersection of routes 12 and 45, has free parking.

Business Partners Operate On Separate Basis At Track

OCEANPORT, N.J.—Gene Iannelli and Donald Schmeck are partners in Reading, Pa. where they operate a successful poultry and produce business. They also engage in the horse-racing business, but here they fail to see eye to eye, and operate on a separate basis. While their ventures are divorced of each other, the one thing they have in common is that Johnny Gilbert trains their horses.

Iannelli and two brothers formed the Sunnycrest Stable which runs in two divisions with Gilbert training one. Schmeck with just a few horses, races in his own name. Gilbert trains.

Last year Gilbert had the charges of each owner here. He made what appeared to be an average claim for Sunnycrest when he took the mare Jimminetty from Lyle Phillips for $3,500. She raced in Sunnycrest colors for about a month.

Wanted To Race

Meanwhile Schmeck wanted to campaign at Atlantic City following the Monmouth meeting but had no horses eligible for racing there. Whereupon Iannelli, believing business partners should also be friends, offered to sell Schmeck Jimminetty for $3,500. Schmeck jumped at the chance.

Jimminetty failed in two starts at Atlantic City but then won two at Garden State. Moving to Maryland she developed leg trouble and it appeared Schmeck might have made a bad investment. However, Gilbert had patience and confidence. Jimminetty came back to the races in April. Unplaced in her first start, she then finished second and followed that by reeling off four straight, moving from $5,000 company to the allowance ranks.

Big Change

Schmeck and Gilbert were elated so that they gave Jimminetty a big chance in the Regret Handicap here. She didn't win but she was second to Blue Sparkler and now she is pointing for the Molly Pitcher Handicap on July 7.

Thus a friendly gift has turned out to be one of the surprises of the season. And when Jimminetty runs, Iannelli must stay in Reading to attend to the business, for partner Schmeck has seen all the mare's races and intends to keep on doing so.

Cincy's Bailey Making Bid For NL Bat Title

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Only two Cincinnati players have won National League batting championships in the past 30 seasons and both have been catchers. Ed Bailey, the Redlegs' current mask and mitt man, is hoping to become the third this year.

Bailey, a second-string receiver at the outset of the season and a .282 hitter in the minors last year, has taken over the NL hitting lead with a .347 average. Figures include games through Sunday.

The last Cincinnati catcher to capture the crown was Ernie Lombardi, who batted .342 in 1938. Lombardi repeated the feat in 1942 as a member of the Boston Braves. The other Redleg backstop to gain batting laurels was Eugene (Bubbles) Hargrave, who set the pace in 1926 with a .353 mark. Lombardi and Hargrave are the only National League catchers ever to win hitting titles.

Bailey Replaced Burgess

Bailey, who was sent to San Diego of the PCL after batting .197 in 1954 and .205 in 21 games with the Redlegs in 1955, has succeeded Smoky Burgess as the Rhinelanders' No. 1 catcher. The 25-year-old left-handed swinger collected seven hits in 22 at bats last week. Five of the safeties were home runs.

Second a week ago, Bailey lost 5 points but displaced the slumping Dale Long of Pittsburgh, who fell to third. St. Louis' Ken Boyer moved from third to runner-up at .338—9 points behind Bailey—and Long skidded to third at .330. Boyer went 10-for-30 and his average stayed the same, while Long had just one hit in 20 trips and he suffered a 29-point decline.

Tied For Fourth

Wally Moon of the Cards and Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente are tied for fourth with .327. Moon, fifth last week, lost 3 points and Clemente, who had fourth all to himself, dipped 6 points.

In the American League race, Mickey Mantle continues his batting superiority with a .376 mark. The Yanks' switch-hitting slugger also is tops in homers with 27 and runs batted in with 66. Mantle went 8-for-25 during the week and lost 7 points.

Detroit's Charley Maxwell is second with .361, followed by teammate Harvey Kuenn at .352. Maxwell, runner-up a week ago, tapered off 5 points on 7-for-21 and Kuenn, in advancing from fourth, dropped 4 points with 1-for-5. Kuenn has been hampered by a leg injury.

Vernon Drops

Boston's Mickey Vernon slipped from third to fourth at .339 and Minnie Minoso rounds out the top five with .325. Vernon fell off 24 points and Minoso, not even among the 10 leaders a week ago, gained 10 points.

Boyer and long share the National League home run lead with 17 each and Boyer is tied with teammate Stan Musial for the most runs batted in, 54.

3 Champions, Medalist In Second Round

READING, Pa., June 26 (AP)—The medalist and three former champions moved into the second round of the Pennsylvania Women's Amateur Golf Championship today with victories at the Reading Country Club.

Twenty-two-year-old Maureen Riley of New Castle, who took medal honors yesterday with a 74, ousted her close friend, Anne Lawson, of Oreland, 4 and 3

Miss Betty Fehl, Reading, the 1950 champion, easily defeated Mrs. Leo Caruthers of Coatesville, 7 and 5, after taking a 5-up lead at the turn.

1954 Champion

The 1954 champion, Mrs. John G. Capers Jr., scored a 7 and 5 victory over young Suzanne Hoenstein of Overbrook. Mrs. Annette Gessler, of Whitemarsh, a two-time winner in this annual tournament, hurdled her first obstacle with a 4 and 3 decision over Mrs. F. G. Weir, of Pittsburgh.

The Schenectady team of the Class A Eastern League is connected with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Stucco Cracks Should Be Patched

STUCCO, as everybody knows, is a coat of cement-mortar applied to the outside walls of a house to make a weatherproof covering. It can be applied over rough masonry or over stucco wire lath which can be nailed to wood sheathing.

A properly applied stucco will last and last and last and last but sometimes cracks appear here and there.

The cracks are often just in the top coat of the stucco—usually the complete covering consists of three coats. Cracks of this type aren't much to worry about. They are not much bigger than a hair when and if the stucco wall is painted.

Trouble

Structural cracks—those that run right through the thickness of the stucco—are something else again. They allow moisture to get in back of the stucco and cause all sorts of trouble including damp interior walls. They should be patched immediately.

First, use an old screwdriver or cold chisel and a hammer to cut out the crack so that it forms an inverted V with the inside of the crack being wider than the outside. Dust out any loose stucco and wet down the sides of the crack with plenty of water.

For patching you may either use a ready-mixed stucco patching compound or a mixture of one part Portland cement and three parts sand. The ready-mixed patching compound can be purchased in various colors which helps if the wall has been previously painted. The patching mix should be packed thoroughly into the seam and then it should be kept covered and damp for a week or so to insure that it cures properly.

Prepare Paint For Guns

ALMOST all types of paint coatings can be applied with spray guns. And almost all types of surfaces can be coated in this manner. To prepare the paint you plan to use in a spray gun, be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions. To remove all lumps and particles of skin, the material should be strained through cheese cloth or wire screen with mesh that will do the work efficiently.

When actually doing the job, hold the gun 6 to 10 inches from the object you're spraying. Move it across the surface with steady, even strokes that are made with a free arm motion. Keep the gun perpendicular to—and an equal distance from—the surface. It's a good idea, incidentally, to practice on cardboard or another surface until you get the knack of it.

Semi-Circular Paint Strokes

USE SEMI-CIRCULAR strokes when you're painting a wall with a brush.

When you're within six inches of a window or door frame, work with vertical strokes to within one inch of the frame. Then turn your brush sideways and finish with long, steady strokes.

Sanding Floors

MAPLE and other hardwood floors call for a three-cut sanding job before finishing. To cut off high spots and joints, No. 2 or No. 2½ sandpaper is used. A second cut calls for No. 1 sandpaper. The third cut is made with No. 0 or No. 00 sandpaper. All sanding should be done with the grain.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-401

DESIGN B-401. The exterior design calls for low roof lines, wide eave overhang, brick planter, picture window, wide siding and asphalt shingles. Floor plans show two bedrooms with wardrobe closets, bath, combination kitchen-dining room, living room, attached garage and porch.

The screend porch overlooks the garden and is shielded from the street by the garage. Installation costs are reduced by grouping the kitchen, bathroom and laundry piping in one wall. In addition to the wardrobes a linen cabinet and two coat closets are provided. Floor area is 912 square feet, with cubage of 16,872 cubic feet, not including the garage and porch but including a full basement.

Never Underestimate Value Of Your House

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE the value of your house when it comes to fire or other casualty insurance. If you assume part of the risk you can't expect to be fully covered, in the event of total loss, by an inadequate policy.

A Midwestern insurance company has figured a house that cost $6,000 to build before World War II—in 1939, to be exact—would cost $15,000 to replace today. And a house that cost $15,500 to build just after the war in 1946 would cost $23,000 to build today.

Here is a table showing in its last line today's replacement estimates for houses at various building costs in past years:

| YEAR | COST TO BUILD WITHOUT LAND | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1939 | $ 4,000 | $ 5,000 | $ 6,000 | $ 7,000 | $ 9,000 | $12,000 | $15,000 |
| 1943 | 5,000 | 6,000 | 7,500 | 8,500 | 11,000 | 15,000 | 18,000 |
| 1946 | 7,000 | 8,500 | 10,500 | 12,000 | 15,500 | 20,500 | 26,000 |
| 1950 | 8,000 | 10,500 | 12,500 | 14,500 | 18,500 | 24,500 | 31,000 |
| TODAY | 10,000 | 12,500 | 15,000 | 17,500 | 23,000 | 30,500 | 38,000 |

In the same period, this insurance company figures that the replaceable value of house goods has doubled. If everything in your house was worth $2,000 in 1939, it would cost $4,000 to replace it today.

It's Time To Fill Cracks

THIS IS A good time of the year to stop up little cold air drafts around the house with a caulking compound and a gun applicator.

Fill up all cracks that appear around window and door frames between foundation wall and sill. You can color the caulking to match the exterior finish. Next Winter your house should be draft-free if these cracks are filled up now.

The Chinese were burning natural gas to evaporate brine and produce salt in 940 B. C.

Dangers To Closet Space

MILDEW AND moths are the chief dangers to safe closet storage. Persons who are confronted by either of these conditions can take steps to eliminate them.

Since mildew is a result of too much moisture, be sure that water is not entering a closet through a leaky roof or damaged water pipe. These repairs should be made promptly, for such conditions may cause serious damage to the home.

If the foregoing are not creating the moisture problem, try ventilating the closet. An alternate measure is to place hygroscopic salts in the closet.

Home Builder Keeps Nature In Mind

TODAY'S PROGRESSIVE home builder is bringing people and nature closer together, with chain reaction.

He saves all the trees on the building site that he can. He keeps the existing contours of the land where possible. He builds a house that "belongs" to the lot.

Nature

And he brings nature right into the house itself with use of simple, natural materials.

One result of this creative kind of home building, builders say, is that the current generation of home shoppers has developed real discernment as to what looks genuine and natural and what looks artificial and contrived in outdoor, indoor living design. These home planners are quick to spot imitation "wood" paneling or siding, a fake firepiace, or a misplaced and pointless picture window.

"When a house faces up to nature, it has to be sincere," one builder commented.

Enamel Undercoat Helps In Change

IF YOU'RE CHANGING the color of your garden furniture radically when you repaint it, it's a good idea to apply enamel undercoat before you begin with the new color.

This is especially advisable if you are swithcing from a dark to a light hue.

Special Paint Needed

WHEN YOU plan to paint exterior woodwork above masonry which you wish to keep in its natural color, be sure to ask your dealer for a chalk-resistant paint.

Stain Remover

A GOOD remover for stains on bathroom and kitchen fixtures can be made by dissolving one ounce of oxalic acid in one quart of water.

Keep Areaways Clear

INSECT WIRE screening placed over basement window areaways will help to keep the areaway from filling up with leaves and debris.

Guard Against Moisture In Legs Of Lawn Furniture

IF YOUR WOODEN lawn furniture needs repainting freqeuntly, chances are moisture is working into the wood somewhere. Peeling would indicate this.

When moisture gets into painted wood, it evaporates through the surface, taking the paint with it, and one of the most frequent points of entry is the bottom of a chair leg. Quite often this isn't painted at all.

Varnish

So when you repaint a lawn chair, first make sure that the wood is perfectly dry. Then, when you do paint it, give the bottoms of the legs two or three coats of spar varnish. This will seal the wood where it comes in contact with the ground.

An even better procedure is to fit rubber cups over the leg bottoms.

The guiding principle is to protect every part of the chair from rain and dampness. This includes the underside, corners, joints and around nailheads.

Turn Coffee Table Into Game Space

AN EASY RENOVATION project for an old coffee table or bridge table is to transform it into a smart modern looking game table with rubber tile.

The resilient tile is easy to cut with a flooring knife into small squares needed for a checkerboard.

Pattern

Lay the tiles on the table top in the pattern desired, then remove and spread surface with rubber tile adhesive and lay tiles in place. Allow to dry 24 hours before using.

The rubber top will not be marred by cigarette burns and is easy to keep clean with a damp cloth.

Screening May Hamper Fans

BE CAREFUL about the size screening that is placed over the opening made for an exhaust fan.

Insect screening will cut down the efficiency of a fan by 50 per cent. ¼-inch wire mesh by only about 20 per cent and ½-inch wire mesh by only 10 per cent.

Pipe Insulation

COLD-WATER pipes often are insulated in the same manner used for hot-water pipes in order to prevent condensation and dripping.

Roofing Cement Helps

Patching Material

THIN CRACKS in a wall are too small to be plugged with patching plaster should be filled with a combination of white lead and turpentine, mixed to a creamy consistency. This should be applied with a cloth. It can be sanded smooth after it hardens.

With A Blue Roof

IF YOUR ROOF is blue, the body of your house will look well painted white, gray, cream-yellow or a lighter tint of harmonizing blue.

Wood Sealers Becoming Highly Popular

WOOD sealers which are being more and more widely used both inside and outside the house are synthetic resins in liquid form which penetrate the wood and close up the pores. They can be had either clear or in colors.

The soft portions of the wood absorb the sealer, thus making it easier to stain, paint or finish clear.

Stains

Some sealers contain stains so both operations can be performed with a single coat. Others produce a lovely blond effect which brings out the sunny color of hemlock and the soft reds of western red cedar.

These sealers are particularly good for builtins and paneling.

Requires Undercoat

NEW WOOD that is to be enameled should first have enamel undercoater applied to its surface. Then, all cracks and nail head indentations should be filled with putty. Level the surface, as you work, so you'll have the minimum of sanding to do after the putty is dry. Flow the enamel on from the tip of your brush.

Mid-August Is Best Time To Battle Dandelion Pest; Use Of 2,4-D Recommended

THE BATTLE AGAINST dandelions seems hopeless for homeowners who resent this pest. Some folks eat the blossoms french-fried, some use them as a beverage, and some eat the greens. However, J. W. Robson, an experienced seedsman tells us there is a way to have a lawn free from dandelions, and we're passing along his ideas.

First, the time to lick dandelions is not when you see the bright yellow blossoms or billowy seed heads on stalks in the lawn. Hold your fire until mid-August and use 2, 4-D weedkiller, Mr. Robson advises.

Using a 12 quart sprinkling can and a gallon can of 2, 4-D (commercial 2, 4-D by the gallon costs around $3.75 and is twice as strong as that sold in half pint or pint bottles to the home owner.) He fills the sprinkling can with water and pours in an ounce of 2, 4-D Amine No. 2, and stir it up. Starting at one edge of the lawn, the next step is to walk rapidly back and forth across that section of the lawn, spraying or rather sprinkling until the whole lawn is covered. In 10 days he goes back to catch any narrow strips he may have missed.

Result: A lawn next spring that is free from dandelions. It'll be necessary to make this application once every 2 years since new seeds will parachute in constantly from neighbor's lawns and fields to constantly reinfest the lawn. 2,4-D will kill some clover in the lawn, but usually the clover will often come back, or you can sow some more each spring to get it back if you like.

Mowing The Lawn

Don't shave your lawn too closely. Set your mower blade to cut at 1½ inches. Constant close mowing means the grass plants just cannot be healthy enough to compete with weeds.

Did your daffodil buds open or blast for you this spring? Daffs and tulips both are affected by a disease known as botrytis. This causes the buds to take on a watery condition, then later that dry up and blast. Botrytis can be checked by digging the bulbs and treating with Captan or Ferbam. Another reason for bloom failure is overcrowding, excessive shade, high temperatures or high, hot winds in spring.

FREE: Want to know more about raising big husky tulips and narcissus? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of our brand new bulletin, Care of Tulips and Daffodils. This guide is packed full of good tips on when and how to transplant and how to fight diseases of these bulb plants.

Display Advertising Copy

DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as new copy deadlines, are necessary . . . in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production . . . and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper . . . permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including CLASSIFIED DISPLAY, must meet the following deadlines:

| Tuesday Copy | 12 Noon Saturday |
| Wednesday Copy | 5 P.M. Monday |

FOR ATTAINING 20th place in the national annual Stevenson Trophy competition, the Lehigh Valley Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants has won an NACA banner in recognition of outstanding accomplishments during the past year. This is the sixth banner won by the chapter in the past eight years.

Of a total of 121 chapters in the United States, the 20 with highest ratings for achievement during the year receive national recognition by being presented with a banner at the NACA's annual internation convention. The 1956 convention is being held in Chicago this week and the award will be made tonight at the Conrad Hilton Hotel to retiring president Charles H. Hough, of Bethlehem.

The Lehigh Valley Chapter won its first banner in 1949, under past president Harry O. Hansen, of Allentown. At that time it attained 12th place in the national contest, the closest it has come to first place and which feat it has since duplicated. First place winner this year is the Birmingham, Alabama, Chapter, with the Philadelphia Chapter being runner-up.

Organization

Lehigh Valley Chapter was organized in 1937 with 35 charter members from the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area. Since then it has grown to 225 members from the immediate Lehigh Valley and extending to western New Jersey, northeast to Stroudsburg, northwest to Shenandoah and Tamaqua, and south to Quakertown.

The NACA is the largest organization of its kind in the world, having some 40,000 members. At the 37th annual international conference currently taking place in Chicago, 50 foreign countries are represented. Besides Hough, other Lehigh Valley members participating in the convention are: Secretary Earle C. Nickey as official delegate; incoming president Charles T. Farley of Easton; Wayne R. Archerd of Bethlehem; a past president and presently serving his second term as a national director of NACA; and Raymond J. Kuntz of Slatington, also a past president.

About two out of five of the world's people are in the labor force.

Your job is more secure... ...because of advertising

Look at the hundreds of advertisements in today's paper. There are ads that sell cars, refrigerators, clothing and new homes. And every time an ad helps sell something, it helps make your job more secure.

Take cars, for instance. A new car sold means a lot more than money in the bank for a local dealer. Every sale spreads employment benefits all over the country . . . more work for Detroit factory workers . . . more work for garages and service stations . . . more work for grocery stores, barber shops, banks and other businesses right here in this town.

Someplace in this vast system is your job. It depends on the American system of making and selling millions of items every day. By helping to sell all kinds of things to all kinds of people, the advertising in this newspaper benefits you!
